Political surprise: AIP rises

Democratic voters continue to increase their lead throughout the Valley but the real surprise was scored by the American Independent Party in the 30 months since Governor Brown was elected to office.

That is the voter registration trend evident in comparing the January, 1977 totals to the April, 1974 registration figures compiled by the Secretary of State.

With less than 300 voter gain overall in those 33 months, Livermore's Republican faithful lost 554 followers, the Democrats gained 433.

Pleasanton gained almost 1500 registered voters in those 33 months, giving Democrats 949 more, but also giving Republicans a modest boost of 85 followers.

Some idea as to San Ramon Valley's partisan party choice is gained from that portion of Congressman Pete Starks' 9th Congressional District. Three years ago, San Ramon Valley was an oasis of Republicanis in Stark's 9th District, registering 2145 for the GOP to 1826 Democrats. But by January of 1977 the Democrats had moved ahead in that suburban enclave also — 2118 to 1907. Stark's District overall — which includes all of this Valley and part of Oakland — is 63.6 percent Democratic.

Alameda County's First Supervisorial District (now represented by Valerie Raymond) continues to show a very decided Democratic flavor, 51,012 to 30,965. That district has been substantially reduced in size since 1974 so no comparison between the two report periods is possible.

Contra Costa County's Fifth Supervisorial District (represented by Eric Hasseltine of San Ramon) gained voters from both major parties in the last three years, but Democrats hold a bulge there — 38,572 to 21,719.

With all that liberal bent, the advance of the American Independent Party in each of the Valley's three voting jurisdictions is even more remarkable. That ultra - conservative group jmped its following in Livermore from 80 to 141, in Pleasanton from 27 to 105 and in San Ramon Valley from 11 to 24 ... a gain of 128 percent in less than three years. The Peace and Freedom Party, meanwhile, was showing a slight decline in its Valley following.

Throughout California, the percentage showings as of January, 1977 are: Democrats 57.2 percent, Republicans 35.1 percent, American Independent .6 percent and Peace and Freedom .3 perent. Another 6.8 percent show allegiance to none of those four parties.

Dublin group hits mini-storage plan

DUBLIN — A group of Dublin preservationists and homeowners may have successfully fended off a proposed mini - storage yard which would have spread over the farmland next to their budding historical center.

A final decision won't come until the end of May, at earliest. But two members of the Alameda County planning department yesterday heard firm objections from several community groups at a work session in Old St. Raymond's Church.

The storage yard was proposed by developer Robert Nahas of R.T. Nahas Co., Castro Valley. Architect's plans show its entrance on Donlon Way, almost opposite Old St. Raymond's. It would cover what is now fields to reach San Ramon Valley Boulevard at the I - 580 off - ramp.

Objections fell into two categories. First, preservationists like Judy Earl and Marie Cronin of the Dublin Historical Preservation Association said the yard, with its assortment of boats, campers and other objects, would mar what is now a peaceful setting for a cluster of historical buildings.

Second, homeowners like Bob Jacobs of the Briarhill Homeowners Association and businessmen like Dave Burton, Chamber of Commerce vice president, didn't like the idea of a storage yard marring the entrance to Dublin.

"I'm sick that someone came up with a mini - storage, of all things," Burton groaned as he looked at plans brought by county staffers Bruce Fey and James Sorensen.

Cronin told the planners the Valley Community Services District board had unanimously voted to oppose the development. "Well, that makes almost everyone against it, doesn't it?" Fry mused.

The planner suggested anyone with an opinion on the proposal testify at a hearing Monday, May 16, at 1:30 p.m. in Hayward. He said the matter would come up again May 31 for a decision.

Reign ends

Angela Rosas is shown being crowned Maid of Dublin last year on May 15. She will be on hand this evening at Castlewood Country Club to surrender her tiara to this year's winner. Nine young women are competing for the title. The house is sold out for the event which begins at 8 p.m. Over 200 tickets were purchased.

Goldwater fight

Lab union bill has new life in the House

WASHINGTON D.C. — The LLL collective bargaining amendment is alive again.

It was revived here yesterday when a House subcommittee passed it on a mostly partisan 8-7 vote. Republicans — led by Barry Goldwater Jr., (Tarzana) — opposed the bill.

The close vote was caused by the absence of several democrats.

It was the first time in the two-year history of the proposal that it had actually been debated in Congress, and the first time it had been voted on by a committee.

The amendment would allow Lawrence Livermore Laboratory employes to organize, and would provide for new grievance procedures.

The amendment now goes to the full House Science and Technology Committee as part of the bill authorizing Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) non-weapon expenditures for fiscal 1978.

It had just been struck from the 1977 bill last month on a move by Sen. S.I. Hayakawa (R. Ca.).

At that point the amendment remained in the House version of the 1977 bill, but to facilitate passage of the already month - overdue legislation, the House accepted the Senate version completely.

The amendment had been placed in the House version on an unopposed move by Rep. Fortney Stark (D. Oak.), on the floor of the House.

In a move designed to catch opponents of the bill off guard, Stark and his allies decided this year to go the committee route, thus hoping to face their opponents with the need to strike an amendment on the floor, which is more difficult than adding one there.

Braeseke jury to be picked Monday

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Jury selection in the murder trial of Barry Braeseke, the 20-year old Dublin youth accused of the triple murder of his family will begin Monday morning.

Braeseke will be tried by a jury before Superior Court Judge Stanley P. Golde, who last month presided over the trial of Braeseke's alleged accomplice, 16-year old David Barker.

Braeseke's family was found shot to death last Aug. 23 in their Betlen Drive home in Dublin.

Barker was found guilty of first degree murder in the death of John Braeseke, Barry's 80-year old grandfather, and second degree murder in the death of Floyd and Barbara Braeseke, Barry's parents.

Defense attorney James L. Crew said he expects jury selection to take about two days and opening arguements to begin Wednesday. The trial should last five days, he added.

Deputy District Attorney Michael Cardoza, who prosecuted Barker, will present the state's case.

Crew said attempts over the past two months to reach a compromise plea were unsuccessful.

Each side wanted more than the other was willing to give, he said. "We agreed to leave it up to a jury."

Crew will claim his client was under the influence of PCP, an illicit massive depressant, and suffers from "certain psychological problems."

Lab explosive search

A mix-up in records Wednesday night caused Lawrence Livermore Laboratory officials to conduct extensive searches of two location for 34 pounds of high explosives before discovering the arms had been detonated a week earlier.

A physical inventory at the Site 300 testing location near Altamont erroneously indicated that two 17-pound packages of chemical explosives had disappeared.

Eighty-five persons spent four hours searching both Site 300 and the Lawrence Lab fruitlessly for the explosives. At 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, a review of the records disclosed that the explosives had actually been detonated one week earlier at Site 300, a Lab spokesman said yesterday.

The explosives were more powerful than TNT, the Lab official said.

Holmes Street collision

As petitioners seek signatures to place a traffic light at Vancouver Way and Holmes Street, a three car fender - bender brought police to that intersection yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred approximately 3:30 p.m. when Steve Holcomb, 17, 691 Lido, turned right from Vancouver and started a left turn onto El Caminito.

He was struck by a pickup truck driven by Gene Silva of Livermore. The truck reportedly bounced off the one car and into a car driven by Carol Kingscott, 16, 133 Columbus Ave., as she waited in the left turn lane. She was heading south on Holmes, ready to turn onto Vancouver.

There were no injuries.

Chowchilla case motion

Frederick N. Woods, one of three defendants in the Chowchilla bus kidnapping case asked the California Supreme Court yesterday to set aside his indictment.

He made the request after being turned down by the state Court of Appeal.

A major issue in seeking overturn of the Madera County indictment is testimony given the grand jury by the children abducted in the bus hijacking.

Dublin realtor's death still being investigated

Lesher News Bureau

SAN RAMON — Investigation is continuing into the shotgun slaying of a Dublin real estate broker in front of a Norris Canyon Road home Wednesday morning.

Investigators said Terry J. Giraudi, 34, of 15 Pecan Court, San Ramon, a broker for Tri Valley Brokers in Dublin, had been dead less than an hour when his body was found about 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Roxanne Lindsay, 32, of 2301 Norris Canyon Road, found Giraudi lying beside his Continental Mark V, when she left her house. She returned and called the sheriff's office.

Giraudi had been shot in the back, probably by a 12 guage shotgun since a shell wadding of that type was found 10 feet from his body.

Investigators believe only Giraudi and his killer were at the scene when the shooting occurred. Robbery has been ruled out as a motive.

Lonnie Goodrich, an employe at Giraudi's firm, said Giraudi had managed the office for less than a year, although he had been a salesman for about three and a half years.

She said she understood he was on his way to list some property when he was shot. She said he had received a telephone call early Wednesday morning telling him to leave the office immediately if he wanted to list the property.

Deputies responding to Lindsay's call said Giraudi was lying face down on the gravel road that served as an entrance to 2301 and 2303 Norris Canyon Road.

Personal effects found on the ground included two pens, a comb, some gum and a business card holder.

Lt. Willis Cullison said Giraudi, who is survived by his father in Visalia, had not been in trouble with police agencies nor was there any connection to illegal drugs.

Rangers

Keeping nudity, booze off beach

In six months there will probably be a TV series about them, but for now they're just the East Bay Regional Park District's answer to loose dogs, drunks and nude bathers: the Beach Rangers.

The new concept in "low - key law enforcement" was just instituted by EBRPD directors with the start of the swim season. According to Chris Nelson, chief of EBRPD parks and interpretation, "Our beach areas are without doubt the 'hot spots' in the district during the summer season. We feel the new Beach Rangers will be able to handle loose dogs, abuse of alcohol, nudity and other forms of public disturbance and harrassment on the crowded beaches."

Local beaches run by the Alameda - Contra Costa County park district are Shadow Cliffs, off Stanley Boulevard, Pleasanton, and Del Valle, off South Livermore Avenue outside of Livermore.

The uniformed rangers will act as "eyes" for EBRPD ranger forces, according to Nelson. They will complement the lifeguard staffs who at times must leave their guarding posts to handle problems on the beach or to call the park police officers.

"The primary goal of the rangers would be to serve as a damper on disturbing activity and to be able to contact a police officer for any serious problems," Nelson said.

A user survey conducted last year concluded many park visitors wish there could be stronger enforcement of park rules to keep the behavior of inconsider-

Four persons arrested on suspicion of drug abuse

LIVERMORE — Police arrested four persons at Robertson Park early Tuesday on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs, officers reported.

Officer Mel Karline drove through the park and spotted a parked car with four occupants. The driver hopped out and told Karline he would leave immediately.

The officer made a U-turn in the park and returned two minutes later to find the car still parked. The driver said he was unable to leave because his lights failed to work.

All four persons in the car were apparently under the influence of some drug, police said. The driver reportedly failed several attempts at completing a field sobriety test.

Booked on suspicion of being under the influence of a controlled substance were: Ronald Ray Stokes, 22, 732 B St., Hayward; Renee Judith Feighner, 18, 1062 Lambaren Ave., Livermore; Cynthia Diane Tarbutton, 19, 762 Olivina Ave., Livermore; and Frederick Henry Tarbutton, 29, 762 Olivina Ave.

A hypodermic needle was allegedly found in Feighner's possession. No charges have been filed.

Victim unwittingly aides in burglary

PLEASANTON — An 11-year-old boy who returned to his Silver Street home from school Wednesday afternoon because of an upset stomach was used to help carry a stereo unit to a burglar's car, police reported.

The youth walked into his house and found it ransacked. A man standing in the front room told the boy he had been sent by the child's mother to get something from behind the stereo. The youth was coaxed to help him carry a large four-channel receiver to the burglar's car.

The suspect is described as a male latino 17-18 years old, about 5 foot 10 with curly black hair and a beard and mustache.

Burglars take car parts from Ozzie Davis lot

LIVERMORE — Burglars removed an estimated $600 in engine parts from a 1966 Chevrolet parked in Ozzie Davis' used car lot at 2350 First St. Monday, police reported.

Missing items include an intake manifold, carburetor, distributor and valve covers. There are no suspects.

Van damaged at Amador Shopping Center

PLEASANTON — An estimated $500 was caused Tuesday night when vandals jumped up and down repeatedly on top of a van parked at the Amador Shopping Center on Santa Rita Road, police reported.

All five windows to the vehicle were broken. Police said a suspect seeking revenge against the van's owner is being sought for questioning.

Tape player pulled from truck

LIVERMORE — A cassette tape player and speakers valued at $450 were taken from a pick-up truck while it was in a field awaiting repairs, police reported.

David Keith Drummond told police he had parked the truck in a field near South S Street. When he returned to it Tuesday, he discovered the theft.

Police said burglars forced open the left side wing window and took an Automatic Radio brand am/fm/cassete player and two speakers. There are no suspects.

Chainsaw worth $230 taken from garage

The red, "Super EZ" brand saw was taken from the garage which was closed. There are no suspects.

Guest had surprise for Holiday Inn

LIVERMORE — A man checked into the Holiday Inn Tuesday just long enough to steal a 21-inch color television from room 332, police reported.

The suspect, a swastika pendant hanging from his neck, registered as a Brooklyn, N.Y. resident but spelled the city's name incorrectly. He is described as 5 foot 11, 180 pounds with brown hair.

The set was valued at $450.

Part of the cycling throng that descended on Shadow Cliffs Park yesterday for a rare schoolday romp

Bikers throng to the park

PLEASANTON — Two hundred fifty bikers from Donlon Jr. High School pedaled their way to Shadow Cliffs Regional Park yesterday in celebration of the fourth day of "Spirit Week."

Instead of hitting the books in the classroom, the seventh and eighth graders spent the day on a field trip where they released the year's pent up energy playing football, wrestling in the sand, and simply "running around at the park."

According to the school's principal, Roy "C." Fields, "Spirit Week" started out Monday with a pep rally, followed by a rained - out picnic at Val Vista Park on Tuesday, and only a half day of classes Wednesday.

Today the girls will have a chance to "tackle" their favorite boyfriends as "Spirit Week" winds out with "Sadie Hawkins Day." Fields said all the boys will line up ten yards away from the girls who will be eagerly awaiting at their marks for the gun to fire.

And then the chase is on.

Any girl fast enough to catch a guy will retain him as a "slave" for the remainder of the day.

A "big dance" will be the grand finale tonight for all slaves and their owners. The students and the school's 13 teachers will "boogie" to the sounds of The Zimmerman Brothers Band.

Stark's bill alive

Furthermore, with the opposition more organized now, it was understood that no move by Stark on the floor would go unopposed this time.

In fact, Stark's move did catch its main opponents — University of Caliornia — unaware. But Goldwater, as both a Californian and a member of the appropriate Science and Technology subcommittee, had been familiar with the issue for years.

In the 15-minute debate Thursday, Goldwaer said that:

— the amendment was not germain to the authorization bill, and — a 1976 Supreme Court ruling (in League of Cities vs. Ussery) holds that Congress may not regulate state practices on the minimum wage. While minimum wages are not at issue at LLL Goldwater said the amendment would have Congress regulating the states on employment matters.

— The amendment would set an unacceptable precedent in using federal funding power to affect labor practices.

— The National Labor Relations Act expressly exempts state employes thus indicating their handling is to be blessed to the states.

— On the specific nature of the situation at LLL Goldwater minimized the degree of strife.

Said a Goldwater spokesman after the debate, "It is alleged that the labor situation at Livermore is chaotic. If that's true, we've never been made aware of it."

He said Goldwater's office had received a small amount of mail on the subject, but that "only about 10 per cent" supported the amendment.

Referring to the second point of the amendment — which calls for a fair and impartial grievance procedure — the spokesman cited figures to the effect that only 81 people have filed grievances at the Lab in 10 years.

Defenders of the amendment argue the grievance procedure is stacked against employes, that management always wins. They also say that LLL people are state employes only in the fairly technical sense that U.C. administers the place.

All the money comes from Washington, as do many regulations, they noted.

In an interview in his office last week, Stark responded to the charge — made earlier by Hayakawa and repeated Thursday — that the bill haphazardly singles out LLL.

"Just about every other federal site is already organized (by unions)," he said.

"I think there's one in Ohio someplace that isn't, and maybe one someplace else, but I think the figure is something like 47 out of 50.

"There's no point in involving them in this legislation. But here we've got support from seven Bay Area Congressmen — covering just about every place Lab people live, and we're not proposing anything that effects anybody else."

At the debate Thursday, the Stark position was defended by Rep. George Brown (D. L.A.), a senior member of the subcommittee. The amendment now bears his name.

Brown's office said Thursday that the amendment has received an unusual amount of attention from outside Congress. We've been lobbied by Dave Saxon (President of U.C.), by the people in Livermore management, and by the unions," he said. "On most of the amendments we handle we never hear from anybody."

County backs anti-porno rules to limit sex shops

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — County supervisors yesterday embraced "Citizens in Defense of Decency," a south county anti-pornography group, in soliciting an ordinance that restricts zoning for "adult entertainment activities" in the county.

The new county code is a duplicate of one enacted by the Oakland City Council last December, and was opposed by both county planning staff and planning commissioners.

It will force prospective book store owners whose main stock in trade deals with sex to apply for a conditional use permit and keep their wares more than 1,000 feet from residential neighborhoods.

It overturns a similar ordinance that forced all would-be book store owners to apply for the permit regardless of the distance from a residential neighborhood.

The measure passed on a 4-0 vote with north county supervisor Fred Cooper abstaining.

Supervisor Joseph Bort, the measure's strongest proponent, said he was "frustrated." He wished the board could pass a broader ordinance, he said.

County planners said they opposed it because the language is "too vague to be consistently administered" and the "public interest appears to be protected to the extent possible by present permit requirements for all bookstores and theatres."

The new ordinance applies to "any commercial activity" delving in "books, magazines, films, photographs or other materials" emphasizing "matter depicting, describing or relating to human sex acts or by an emphasis on male or female genitals, buttocks or female breasts."

Some 91 per cent of more than 2,000 adults participating in the survey said they considered their protection against crime "very important" when they are selecting a park to visit. More than 80 per cent said they considered enforcement of park rules and regulations "very important."

Accepting the beach patrol program for trial this summer, the park district board, meeting Tuesday afternoon in Oakland, approved the immediate hiring of six rangers, "hopefully to be drawn from colleges providing police training." They also authorized putting to work six new nine - month public safety officers. The beefed - up patrols will be on the line by the middle of June when schools are out and public transportation is running to some of EBRPD's swimming facilities.

Besides Del Valle (which has no lifeguards) and Shadow Cliffs, there is swimming at the following EBRPD parks:

Lake Anza, in Tilden Regional Park in the Berkeley - Oakland hills; Lake Temescal, just off the Warren Freeway (Hwy. 13) in Oakland; Don Castro Regional Recreation Area between Castro Valley and Hayward and Contra Loma Park south of Antioch and Pittsburg.

CCC lists new cases of measles

Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — An outbreak of measles has been reported at four Central Contra Costa County schools and the Byron Boys Ranch, health officials announced today.

Carol Walton, county Health Department, said "We expect to see measles in every school in the county by the time this is over."

The Mt. Diablo Unified School District is sending letters home to every parent warning that measles are on the way, and urging parents to have their children immunized again if they had received their first measles vaccine before 1969.

The new epidemic is affecting children of high school age, Walton said. Already 200 cases have appeared in the county, 90 of these at the Pinole High School.

Cases in Central County were at Mt. Diablo High School, Concord High School, the Walnut Creek Christian Academy and the Athenian School in Alamo.

Free immunization clinics are being held daily at county offices in Concord, 2355 Stanwell Dr., from 8:30 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday; at the Health Department in Martinez, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., 1111 Ward St.; in Pittsburg at 45 Civic Dr. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.; and in Richmond, 38th and Bissell, Monday through Fridays from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Walton said that when a measles outbreak occurs in a school, the county will make every effort to immunize the children at the school.

Immunization clinics have been held in Pinole and Alamo.

More information can be obtained by calling Walton at 372-2525.

Chabot budget nears $22 million

A $21,986,481 preliminary budget for 1977-78 is under consideration by trustees of the South County Community College District.

Dr. Reed L. Buffington, president of Chabot College, said the budget is up approximately $125,000 over the current year's outlay. The budget was presented to trustees at their meeting this week.

Dr. Buffington indicated the proposed budget was projected on a 7 per cent increase in assessed valuation, but added there is some expectation that figure will increase.

The budget's most distinguishing feature, he said, is that it is not much different from the current budget. He said that state law requires at least 50 per cent of the budget be spent on instructors' salaries. In the preliminary budget, the figure is right at 50 per cent, where in past years it has ranged from 53 to 55 per cent.

He disclosed that the increase over last year's budget is due to higher costs of employe benefits, utilities, workmen's compensation payments, supplies and equipment replacement. Payments to the Blue Cross health plan have increase by 25 per cent and to the Kaiser Plan by seven per cent.

Buffington opined that other parts of the budget "may have to be squeezed."

The budget contains $300,000 for a heating system conversion in the face of the current energy shortage; $150,000 for natural gas, and $25,000 for diesel fuel.

Although the budget calls for an increase in the tax rate, an overall tax decrease is being projected based on the fact that the district's assessed valuation may go higher than seven per cent and the bond interest and redemption rate will further increase.

Trustees will consider the budget further at their May 17 meeting.

Trustees also learned Tuesday that the college has reduced its water consumption by 19 per cent prior to mandatory cutbacks due to the energy shortage.

Buffington told trustees it is hoped water from a well on the Hayward campus can be used for the swimming pool. An absolute minimum of water is being used on the lawns, which are watered no more than 20 minutes per week in the early morning hours.

The college has been told it may use liquid petroleum gas for a projected standby heating system. If this were to become a reality, it would reduce capital costs by $100,000 over a standby oil heating system, also being studied.

In addition, the college has been asked to make a 10 per cent reduction in its electrical load use during the summer months.

Help for handicapped

Schools see new aid

LIVERMORE — Handicapped children in the Livermore Unified School District may be getting a break when the district receives some $50,000 in federal funds.

The school board Wednesday night approved an application for the money, which would provide for more testing and "mainstreaming" — keeping handicapped children in regular classrooms with some special attention to compensate for their physical or mental shortcomings.

According to Superintendent of Schools Leo Croce, "Public Law 94 - 142 (the federal law which makes the money available) is heralded as the most comprehensive legislation ever adopted on behalf of the handicapped."

Trustees also passed, with a few changes, the proposed district Title IX regulations prohibiting sex discrimination. The five pages of regulations will come up for a third reading at a future school board meeting and, if passed, will become binding within the district in compliance with federal rules.

In other business conducted at their Tuesday night regular meeting and Wednesday night special meeting, the board:

— Accepted without comment an annoucement from Superintendent of Schools Leo Croce that the experimental "La Escuela de la Vida" had been shut down after an unsuccessful few months.

Headed by intermediate school teacher Jan Bettencourt, the school was set up for 12 disruptive seventh and eighth graders with the idea that isolated, peaceful surroundings and a practical curriculum would inspire them to study.

The school had been located in a former classroom building next to Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch on the old Del Valle TB Sanitarium grounds south of town.

Some "serious problems" listed by Superintendent Croce as leading to the shutdown included improper staffing, the wrong kinds of structure, poor communication and improper selection of students for the program.

Croce said the staff hoped to re - work the project and open again in September with a somewhat different approach to the same idea. "We think that concept is a good one," he told trustees.

— were asked to consider joining in the purchase and renovation of the Pentecostal Bible College property on College Avenue. The scenic but run - down property was formerly a hospital for alcoholics. Purchase price is estimated at $795,000; renovation, $250,000; maintenance, $20,000 a year and staffing, $60,000 a year. The Livermore Area Recreation and Park District is eyeing the property.

— questioned why, in light of sex discrimination laws, the district were allowing a father - son dinner this spring. Superintendent Croce explained the Boosters Club dinner, for 25 years a father - son affair, had changed and was now honoring male and female athletes and allowing either parent to attend.

— were asked by trustee Gail Sidhu to join the outcry for a traffic light at Holmes and Vancouver, a risky crossing for children. Petitions have been circulating since Tony Thomas, an eight - year - old in Sidhu's neighborhood, was killed by a pickup truck at that crossing last week.

T. Kenneth Fowler (left), associate director of the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory and B. Grant Logan, LLL physicist, discuss an $11 million fusion energy project currently underway.

New power plants

Lab's $11 million fusion power study

LIVERMORE — An $11 million experiment has begun construction at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory and may eventually lead to development of power plants that use a nearly limitless source of fuel — water.

Scientists attempting to harness fusion energy are building a Tandem Mirror Experiment in hopes of improving the efficiency of methods used to contain hot gases of fusion fuel called "plasma."

Livermore Lab Associate Director T. Kenneth Fowler, LLL Physicist G. Grant Logan and G.I. Dimov of the Soviet Union last year independently suggested a novel use of magnetic mirrors that is the basis of the mirror experiment.

Previous magnetic mirror experiments have confined the plasma within the mirror using magnetic fields to push inward from all directions in attempts to contain the fuel. The compressed plasma, however, produced a strong electrical force that was detrimental to its own confinement.

The new experiment turns this force into an advantage. By placing a magnetic mirror at each end of a long magnetic tube, called a solenoid, the force in the end mirrors confines the plasma within the solenoid.

Physicists hope the small-scale experiment will prove that a tandem mirror - type device can successfully contain a fusion plasma.

If successful, the simplistic design will mean substantial savings in investment, operation and maintenance costs in comparison with other magnetic fusion approaches.

The Lawrence Lab is the world center for research on magnetic mirrors for harnessing fusion energy. A $94 million Mirror Fusion Test Facility (MFTF) is being built to understand how very large magnetic mirrors operate.

Magnetic fusion produces energy by consuming deuterium, a common element of heavy hydrogen. The fuel can be found in nearly limitless supply in common seawater.

Confusion in Livermore

'Dire' need for that sewer grant

LIVERMORE — A letter from the state water resources control board telling Livermore it was again being denied funds to expand the water treatment plant was "unclear", according to plant superintendent Bill Loftin.

Loftin's confusion centered around a statement in the letter that "The Division of Water Quality will not recommend funding for the city's project to expand existing facilities for reclamation at this time."

"I wasn't sure whether they meant the plant or the reclamation project," Loftin said, pointing out the city wants to expand sewage treatment capacity from the present 5 million gallons per day (MGD) to 6 MGD and is also working for a smaller project to irrigate city owned agricultural fields near the airport.

With city council concern that the letter carried the signature of a staff member for Larry F. Walker, manager of the Clean Water Grant Program, Loftin said a possible error was caused by a bureaucratic shuffling problem.

"That state agency is so large I'm sure that often the word does not get down to Larry Walker," said Loftin. "I had lunch with him last Friday and he didn't even know about this or say anything."

"People at staff level automatically do these things sometimes," he added.

City Manager Bill Parness and Public Works Director Dan Lee went to Sacramento yesterday in an effort to clear up the confusion. When city officials appeared before the state board mid April they were told the city would be able to have financing for the first two phases of the expansion in the first year.

The plant is operating almost to capacity now and Loftin said, "We are in dire need of that 1 MGD and some equipment to process the solids we get out of this system."

He also noted some of the present facilities are 20 years old and need replacements. Parts on the older equipment are hard to get, said Loftin, and the 1957 equipment is "antiquated."

The plant director complained that underlings at the state level have placed too much emphasis on a regional approach that would have the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency overseeing all Valley drinking water and waste water discharge projects.

Dan Lee made many telephone calls to Sacramento yesterday morning before going with Parness to "work out what he was hoping was a misunderstanding," said Parness's secretary Pat Whitlow.

The two officials were not expected back by press time.

City's limits

There must be a point in urban growth when a city government declares — and county government agrees — "This is the projected limit for any extension of municipal services, and municipal responsibility."

Mayor Helen Tirsell believes such a declaration "would be good for the cities, good for the landowners, and fair for all taxpayers." She recites problems confronting Livermore in the absence of such a rule. It is a headache shared by every rural - suburban government.

There was a time in the grow - grow history of California when any parcel of land within ten miles of city hall was ripe for urban speculation. Too often, that rural development came well before the city's growth got there. Mayor Tirsell defends such "country living." What she argues against is "the situation where this pocket of rural development is allowed to go on despite apparent conflict with the logical extension of municipal services ... the result is often a mess that hurts the new home owner, and costs the city."

Speculation in rural lands is a game played by those who will never live in the homes resulting from that development. They deal with county government for projects ranging from two to 200 homes. But, "there is a good chance municipal government will come up against that development's boundaries some day; then it bcomes the concern, and often the cost burden, of all taxpayers within that city," Mayor Tirsell argues.

Also left to suffer are the owners of rural parcels adjacent to that one developed piece. The county assessor is apt to apply one "fair market value" to all those rural pieces, developed and undeveloped, with a resulting property tax which could force some "rural" families off their land, leaving that land open to further urban encroachment.

Mayor Tirsell's argument for "clear definition of urban service areas" will be submitted to the Mayors Conference next week, and is already headed to the legislature as SB 467. It is an item of considerable interest to rural landowners and city taxpayers throughout this basin.

Charity's funds

As charitable institutions turn increasingly to government for financial assistance, their own ability to function as independent members of the community is jeopardized.

That critique came from no less a source than the governor of California. It is a comment to be weighed carefully by any and all agencies whose ability to deal with people is being lost in a bureaucratic maze.

Governor Brown was responding to the plea "for more state funds" from Catholic Charities when he offered his little homily: "You have to get individuals to gie of themselves, or you will be absorbed by government."

The great strength of "christian charity" in this country is in the relationship of people to people; of identifying a need within the community, the local neighborhood, and responding to that need. It is also evident that the effective use of that donated dollar or energy far surprasses the contribution which must be filtered through some larger organization's system.

Governor Brown also notes that "as private charities become more dependent on government funds, they lose contact with the community." Yes, and lose also the freedom to apply those funds to local need as they see it.

Sound advice, governor. But let's not stop at "charitable institutions" in your early warning analysis. The involvement of people in their communities, in concern for each other, is being lost in that bureaucracy which preaches "One Big Give" from April 15 through December 25.

A good neighbor and a sound community are still the best investment any of us can make in our own future.

Doctor's records

The decision by one medical practioner to suddenly close his office and leave this Valley, taking with him all records pertinent to patients he had treated, raises a serious question about "patient's rights" in the matter of such records.

It came as quite a shock to patients of Dr. Gerald M. Price to learn that "all records belong to the physician . . . he can do with them as he pleases."

That advice was given this newspaper by a spokesman for the medical association set up so that doctors might "police themselves" in matters of patient responsibility. That responsibility, we now learn, does not include any mandate to compel a practitioner who suddenly vacates the community to make his records available to the patient or to any other local doctor.

"Most doctors are very cooperative on that score," we are informed. "We rarely have any problems with patient - access to his records."

But when a family physician is unwilling to produce those records — for whatever reason — the patient could be left in medical or even legal limbo. That is a situation which should never occur. The doctors and their association should take steps to make certain it does not occur again. The alternative is governmental intrusion between doctor and patient; and no one wants that.

FOCUS/Nixon-Frost

Revelations

The further inquisition of Richard M. Nixon, best known as the Nixon-Frost Talks, seems to us the arch example of beating a dead subject to death.

Not that the "lessons" of the Nixon Administration/Watergate should be forgotten.

However, there seem to be far more serious problems involving segments of this country, some of which even pre-date Nixon/Watergate.

The Nixon-Frost Talks, or how a young-English-lad-went-to-the-colonies, struck-out-on-several-TV-series-and-then-achieved-the-PR coup-of-the-decade, come at a time when millions of Americans are being staggered more than ever before by economic woes/inflation.

This writer could care less, now, what "hash" a electronic media hack can make from the propped-up carcass of a thoroughly-disgraced ex-president.

As an individual, I am much more concerned with why I'm all but being taxed out of existence, why the "fat cats" of big business are fatter than ever, why the streets are less safe than evers ago, and why we are all paying more for education and the end "product" is still virtually illiterate.

The end result of these Nixon-Frost Talks will be a new demand for David Frost's services, $600,000 added to the Nixon bank account and yet another stream of sensational headlines on what Nixon did or didn't do — all of which will be repeats for the 798th time.

If the David Frosts and other media-types of this world pursued the meaningful national and regional issues half as diligently as they've chased after Mr. Nixon, perhaps some of our economic woes would be just one iota more palatable.

Nixon has been described, and in fact seems to be, a pathetic figure.

It is ironic to say the least that while he lives out his years in disgrace (albeit amidst the splendor of Casa Pacifica), many of his ex-cronies flit about the country with their "born again" revelations— collecting tidy sums for appearances and/or publications.

It could only happen in the United States. And I'm not absolutely certain whether we should be bragging about that.

These acts of revelation, whether solo or adieu, are "big draws" in this day and age.

Pick a controversial subject and then ascertain what side most of your potential audience is on.

Like the homosexuals-Anita Bryant repartee.

Apparently the media has determined that the balance of public favor is with homosexuals or "gays"— the latter a media term in itself.

Thus, Miss Bryant and her Support Our Children campaign become the subject of unending bad jokes and outright ridicule.

All of which seems so unfortunate....this concentration on Nixon, Watergate, homosexuals and Miss Bryant....when there are more serious, current problems facing each and everyone of us.

Ordination story

Editor, The Times:

Jean McKenna — Your story Friday, was such a nice way to start the day! Putting the ordination of Fred Riccio on the front page was a wonderful idea — not only for a change from violence, politics, problems, etc. — because it gave a lot of space to hero-type achievement.

As government bears down harder on people with taxes, regulations, controls and new assessments, it's refreshing to read about a young man who takes vows of obedience, poverty and chastity. People need, nowadays, to read about heros and heroines. The story was factual and the paper was generous with space. I think we all need a respite like that sometimes.

JV sports ignored

Editor, The Times:

At the beginning of our junior varsity baseball season we protested a game against Amador Valley High School. The protest was legally written out and was sent to the board of principles in hopes of playing the game over. We later learned that we had won the protest but the board of principles said that they wouldn't do anything about it because the protest was filed too late. The rule is that you have to file an official protest before 48 hours after the game. ... The board of principles ... say, "It's only J.V."

My gripe is that the board of principles could care less about any of the J.V. baseball teams. If the varsity or even the freshman had a similar situation some results would be sure to happen. ...

The whole idea behind the J.V. teams are to prepare the students for varsity. It teaches them to compete to their fullest, show excellent sportsmanship and to teach the thrill of winning and the agony of defeat. ... The guys who play J.V. baseball don't just play to show sportmanship, they play to win and end the season with the best record. I know, I play for the Dublin High School J.V. baseball team and I know the feeling you get after you win or lose. All my team mates play to end the season with the best record and to be titled "Champions!" So I ask everyone. "Do the J.V. teams really mean anything? And if so, we have to do a lot of convincing to the board of principles."

Tony Thomas fund

Editor, The Times:

The following is what I was prevented from saying by the Livermore City Council at its meeting ...

1. Ask each member of the city council to help collect money for the Tony Thomas memorial fund.

2. Request that the city council pass a resolution supporting the fund and encourage support from the Chamber of Commerce, service organizations, churches, schools, etc.

3. Inquire as to how much money there was in the city treasury and if it could be used immediately to erect the traffic light.

Perhaps the city council will address itself to these suggestions at their next meeting.

It is sad that when our officials occasionally act responsibly that they are attacked by a bunch of crackpots.

A child's death

Copy of a letter to —
Mayor Tirsell:

Now that a child has been Killed crossing Holmes Street at Vancouver/El Caminito, how much longer will we have to wait for a traffic signal to be installed? Would you like to see five, or ten deaths here? And how about all the near misses with cars trying to turn left onto Holmes from the two side streets? Holmes is used as a raceway by most drivers.

A traffic light at this intersection should be First Priority with the City.

Pipeline opposed

Editor, The Times:

The first main factor in opposing this pipeline project is that it was turned down at the polls by the Registered Voters in the last November election. Now — some of our elected officials, who make up the little group called "LAVWMA," are trying to run the pipeline over the majority of the registered voters, who do not want that expensive, unnecessary project!

One of the local papers has reported that LAVWMA will write Zone 7 asking for their support. I do not believe Zone 7 will let the people down by going along with this wasteful spending of our tax dollars for the pipeline project; I hope Zone 7 will exert all the power they have to prevent this project, for this is taxation without representation.

Since when did the voice of any of our elected officials obtain the authority to supersede the voice of the majority of the registered voters? Perhaps these elected officials should review the Constitution of the United States.

round the town

I read where it's now costing us $64,000 just to rear one child from crib through college.

That's the "national average for a typical middle - income family including education at a state - supported university." If you aren't typical, or couldn't get the chick in a school supported by your taxes, then the progeny is costing you another few thou.

It is information like this which really brightens the conversation in the typical American home. We take you now to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Tired N. Typical, where Tired N. and his lovely wife, Tiresome, are discussing the joys and costs attached to the raising of their only child, Typically A. Typical.

"Does that mean $64,000 just for one semester, or does it cover Typically's costs for a whole year," Mr. T. asked, with a parental smirk.

"Now Mr. T.," says Mrs. T., "you and I both know that Typically has been a financial burden at times, but think of all the genuinely happy moments we've shared together in the 19 continuous years of his schooling."

"I'm thinking," Mr. T. replies. "But right at the moment no genuinely happy moments come to mind. Of course there have been some hilarious incidents . . . like the time Typically took the Chancellor's daughter off on a long weekend after which we were pursuaded to transfer him out of the university and out of the state ..."

"Now, Mr. T.," Mrs. T. says, "I know you're still upset by the extra cost of that out-of-state college, but when I think of all the terrible things our little Typically could be getting into if he weren't still in school, I'm convinced it's worth the financial sacrifice."

"I can't think of a single terrible thing Typically Typical hasn't already accomplished while he's been in residence at some of the most expensive schools in and out of this state. And that's another thing," Mr. T. adds, "how long is that kid going to stay in school? I was a relatively young man when we first enrolled him in college; now I'm approaching retirement and Typically is still sending home new class schedules and old overdraft notices. When does it all end??"

"High finance never was one of Typically's better subjects," Mrs. T. agrees. "But the boy means well ..."

"He means to drive us into the poor house!" Mr. T. asserts, "or maybe the nut house, whichever comes first. Look at these latest government figures on child - raising costs ... up 60 percent from the 1969 cost levels (which is also the year Typically entered college) ... if we had cut him off at age 18 and put him in the Zaire army like I suggested, our investment in Typically would have levelled off at $53,605."

"But 32.3 percent of that cost is charged against housing," Mrs. T. reminds her husband. "And since we had the extra room anyway I really don't think we can say Typically was an added financial burden."

"If he had vacated that room ten years ago we could have been renting it out to school teachers all these years, or maybe off - duty firemen. Anybody who'd pay cash for a bed," Mr. T. declared.

"And that's another thing," he went on, "how long do we have to reserve that bedroom for a 25 - year - old son? I would like to invite my brother and his wife to visit us sometime but there's never any room."

"You can't stand your brother and his wife over a glass of beer, let alone over night," Mrs. T. says. "Besides, we have to assure Typically that this always be his home until he is able to complete his education and make his own way in the world."

"He can't even make his way across town, unless he borrows my car," Mr. T. states. "And that's another thing . . . this latest government report says 16.1 percent of that $64,000 outlay for raising one kid goes to TRANSPORTATION! That's like over ten thousand bucks just to move the kid from here to there! My grandfather moved the whole family from Italy, furniture included, for less than half of that."

"Well Mr. T.," Mrs. T. says, "you know how costs have gone up."

"You bet I know!" Mr. T. agrees. "$8416 just to send a kid through four years of college ... and that's in 1975 dollars. By the time Typically completes his college career the costs will amount to more than my total income."

"I could always go back to work," Mrs. T. offers.

"Yes, and had you never quit your job in the first place to watch over Typically A. Typical, our income would have improved by $107,000 ... that's up 72 percent over 1969."

"I wish you wouldn't read these government reports," Mrs. T. says to her husband. "They only remind you of the money side of raising a family. There's more to it than that, you know."

"You're right," Mr. T. says, "In fact I have here the latest government study on young Americans ... did you realize that 38 percent of all college students no longer believe in marriage? They like to shack up together but ..."

EARL WATERS

Consumed

Call it "paternalism" or "big brotherism" but the extent to which those in government are attempting to influence the direction of society to conform to their views of what is good for people was demonstrated in full blossom here recently.

The occasion was a "press conference" called by Richard Spohn, the 33 year old director of the Department of Consumer Affairs. It was held in a local co-op food store in observation of national "Food Day." The purpose, Spohn announced, was to promote direct buying from farmers, a program to which Spohn pledged his department would play "a major active role."

It was another example of the "do-gooder" philosophy which has become the prevailing motivation of the appointees of Governor Jerry Brown. Regardless of the purposes of the agency to which they are put in charge, they seek to convert it to an instrument of social re-engineering.

In Spohn's case there may be some small excuse to wander into the area of marketing since the department is charged with consumer matters. But that is only a small phase of his job which is primarily the overseeing of some 25 professional and vocational licensing boards.

Even so, to use the taxpayers dollars to foster the idea that direct buying between the consumer and farmer not only will provide healthier food but cut food prices is either ignorance or a contrived deception. In either case it is an outrageous abuse of public funds.

Spohn, who uses such four-bit words as "symbiotic" as he talks loftily of the relationship between farmer and consumer as being "at the core of human culture," speaks of "bypassing middle persons and buying direct from the farmer."

It is a romantic notion to be entertained by sophomores. But it ignores the true fact that America has the most efficient marketing system in the word.

When Spohn speaks disparingly of the supermarkets saying the co-ops give the consumer an alternative to what he calls "the anonymity of our marketing system and the increased concentration of economic power in the production section" he overlooks the fact that it is the mass buying power of the supermarkets which keep the grocery bill down.

Were people totally dependent upon their local farmers for their food the variety of their tables would be restricted to those local crops in season.

The thought of buying direct from the farmer may have some appeal but how does an urban society conveniently establish such a relationship? Besides the farmers' market concept is a fallacy. Even in the days when the roadside fruit and vegetable stands were far more abundant than today, the fact is that most all sold many products other than those which they themselves raised. Their sources for these added commodities were not different than the established grocer. As to price, excepting for their own products at the peak of a season, they weren't much different than in the market place.

Healthwise such direct dealings often create problems. Direct farmer-consumer milk sales were outlawed because of the widespread danger of tuberculosis.

Those who have travelled in foreign lands and viewed the disorganized market places where fresh fruit and produce and meat are covered with flies, know the dangers of typhoid, dysentery, hepatitis and other ailments associated with raw contaminated foodstuffs.

Health foods, including organically grown produce, are fine as are co-ops but for a government agency to advance them as cost-saving alternatives to the supermarkets is unrealistic.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I've just learned that my two runaway children are now followers of Rev. Moon. My husband left me seven years ago so the kids grew up without a father. I tried to be a good parent but since I had to work full time, I didn't see them much. They had total freedom and I'm afraid one of them was into drugs before she left. Another woman in our town says I should forget it because the kids are in good hands. She said her son joined this movement and she's happy about it. She feels it's a worthwhile organization. Why do others think it's bad? — L.M.

DEAR L.M.: The reputation of this group has been marred by the statements of some who have investigated the religious community, as well as by some former members who feel that many of the young people are not acting under their own free will, but have been brainwashed by the leaders. This brainwashing might come through deprivation of food, sleep, or through other means of mass hypnosis.

There is some indication that youngsters may be drawn to this, and to similar religious groups, because they are calling out for some structure and discipline in their lives. Most of these groups have fairly rigid codes regarding the use of drugs and of behavior between the sexes. The popularity of these organizations may be a reaction against the permissiveness of our society.

Most youngsters complain bitterly when their parents discipline them and set down specific rules, but actually they need and want loving guidance and discipline. Leaders such as the Rev. Moon provide a great deal of discipline and give the youngsters the feeling that they are accepted and totally loved. In a sense, I suppose, this is rather like a large family. The danger is that thought, also, is rigidly controlled.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm not afraid of success, but I'm sure having a tough time climbing up the ladder. You might think it's because I'm not good at my job, but that's not true and my bosses tell me this. I'm so depressed about being passed over for promotions, however, that I'm just about ready to call it quits. I can't help feeling there's something missing in me and I don't honestly know what it is. — N.O.

DEAR N.O.: I think one of the first things to do is to try to arrange a time when you can talk with your boss. You may think that you've made it clear that you're serious about climbing that ladder of success in your particular field, but you'd be surprised how often managers are unaware of the ambitions of their employees. Be just as honest as you can be and try to get him to be honest with you. Don't hesitate to tell him that you have considered leaving the job.

If you feel there's a bias for some reason, then it might be a good thing to seriously look into the possibility of going to a different firm. After all, many people climb that ladder you're talking about by moving every couple of years from one job to another.

Above all, don't fall into the trap of blaming yourself for what you consider your failure without first thoroughly analyzing the situation. A recent study showed that when it comes to failure, males attribute it to "bad luck" whereas females almost always feel they're incapable. Men, the research indicates, have a way of explaining shortcomings in a way that isn't egodeflating. They blame their failures on outside influences...You can be doing the same.

Q. "WHAT ARE JELLYFISH?"
A. JELLYFISH ARE UNUSUAL SEA ANIMALS THAT HAVE JELLYLIKE BODIES AND STINGING TENTACLES, WITH WHICH THEY CAPTURE THEIR FOOD.

The jellyfish is among the strangest of sea creatures.

It is not even a fish, but a very simple kind of sea animal that has no skeleton. The main part of the jellyfish's body looks like an umbrella, and it is made up of two thin layers of tissue with jellylike material between them.

Around the rim of the umbrella are usually a number of simple eyes, and in the center of the body underneath is the mouth.

Hanging down from the edge are stringlike tentacles, armed with batteries of stinging cells filled with paralyzing poison.

If a small fish bumps into the jellyfish's tentacles, it gets stung and captured for food.

If you touch these tentacles, you may get stung, too!

A jellyfish swims by folding and unfolding its body — much like closing an umbrella. Mostly, it floats along with the current. Some jellyfish are no larger than a pea. Others may be two feet or more in diameter.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please send me some information on psoriasis. My doctor said I have it but didn't give me any information about it. How does it act, what to expect and how to cope with the situation? Will a person always have it once it has gotten a hold? The itching is rough on the skin.

DEAR READER — Psoriasis is an ancient disease and has been known since Biblical times. You may be surprised to know that from two to five out of a hundred people have psoriasis. In the vast majority of these, though, the disease is very mild. In a lesser number it can cause severe skin changes which are distressing to the patient and sometimes disturbing to the body's function.

The cause of psoriasis is not known. It is related to a defective gene in the cells and it does have inherited characteristics. Because some patients have no family members with the disease this concept is sometimes challenged but it occurs at different ages — from infancy to old age — and it may be so mild as to have been unrecognized.

The lesion itself is an overproduction of skin cells. The excess cells pile up as a silver gray scab-like surface over a red and blotchy lesion. These lesions are called plaques and may be very small or quite large. They commonly occur on the knees, elbows and scalp but they can occur anywhere on the body.

The silver scales slough off and when the scalp is involved they may be mistaken for dandruff. Not only that, the oily scalp of seborrheic dermatitis may be followed by psoriasis.

The disease may disappear and then reoccur — perhaps in a different location. So you may not have to tolerate it forever.

There are many treatments for psoriasis. Some are rather old, using coal tar and ultraviolet light. Newer approaches include anti-cancer agents which are quite toxic to the human body. These are reserved for severe intractable cases, sometimes with complications. Hormones, the corticosteroid agents, are used and local application is sometimes advocated.

Treatment is so controversial that no definite statements can really be made that would apply to all cases.

Opening lead — 10 ♥

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In today's hand taken from the 1976 Olympiad practically every pair reached a spade or club slam. All slams made easily when a heart wasn't opened, all spade slams went down against a heart lead because the defenders did not see those four spades in the East hand.

The heart lead also beat most of those in six clubs. Declarer would win the heart, lead dummy's king of clubs and a second club from dummy would produce the queen from East.

At this point most declarers played another club, started on spades, could only get one discard when West showed out on the second spade lead and paid off to that bad spade break.

When Sharyn Kokish of the Canadian ladies' team held the South cards she decided to try to guard against that bad spade break.

Therefore, after the queen of clubs dropped, she cashed her ace and king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond with dummy's last club, returned to her hand with the queen of spades, drew the last trump and had 12 tricks.

This safety play was sure to work if diamonds broke as well as 5-2 since East was known to be out of clubs. If West ruffed the third club, Sharyn would have been able to discard dummy's last heart.

Chowchilla suspect: throw it out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A defendant in the Chowchilla bus kidnaping case asked the state Supreme Court on Thursday to set aside his indictment because it was based in part on testimony by young children.

Frederick N. Woods made the request after being turned down by the state Court of Appeal.

The petition declared there is a question of whether certain counts in the Madera County indictment can be sustained when "critical evidence to support it" is based on testimony of children below the age of 14 and where the prosecution had not previously tried to establish if they understood the obligation to tell the truth.

It also questioned whether a defendant who asks for a preliminary examination can be indicted when the prosecutor fails to advise the grand jury of the request.

The high court was asked to prevent the Alameda County Superior Court, to which the case was transferred, from continuing criminal proceedings until it reaches a decision.

A Dairyland Unified School District bus carrying 26 children was hijacked last July 15. The children and their bus driver were imprisoned in a buried moving van, but managed to escape.

Woods and two brothers, James and Richard Schoenfeld, were first charged in Chowchilla Justice Court in Madera County on kidnaping and robbery charges.

Subsequently the Madera County grand jury indicted them on five counts of kidnaping for ransom with bodily harm, 22 counts of kidnaping for ransom without bodily harm and 18 counts of robbery.

Woods contends that he was deprived of the opportunity to challenge the competency of the witnesses.

The next scheduled appearance in Alamda County Superior Court for the three is June 13 for hearings on motions to quash search warrants, suppress evidence and restore seized property.

The defendants also are expected to appeal a trial court rulings which denied their request that the press and public be excluded from hearings.

County board cuts Valley plan talks

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Any plans to debate the proposed general plan amendment for the Valley and open up discussion of Harlan Geldermann's controversial "New Town" were cut short yesterday in a county supervisors' work session on the Valley's general plan amendment.

But the board voted unanimously to order a comprehensive study of "alternate sewage treatment methods" — mini-package plants — by its planning commission.

A board policy decision on the independent package plants will weigh heavily on Carl Nipper's proposed Pleasanton Ridge development, and could effect Geldermann's plans.

Limiting the hour long general plan discussion to staff presentations and supervisors' queries, the board left both sides of the argument to sit quietly in the audience.

Supervisors' questions centered on sewer services for Geldermann's proposed Las Positas Valley development north of Livermore, and the ridgelands above Pleasanton and Sunol.

The board has the final say on its planning commission recommendation of full development of the Valley — Livermore, Pleasanton, Dublin and "New Town" — to a 1995 population of 186,000.

Geldermann would build some 15,000 homes in the Las Positas Valley, and Livermore and Pleasanton would grow at about 2 per cent yearly.

Dublin, squeezed between the freeway and the county line and between the hills and Camp Parks, would expand to its natural borders.

Planning commissioners rejected alternate plans calling for lower growth ceilings.

The sewage treatment systems study will entail "all alternatives to the traditional means of sewage disposal," according to the board's directive, including the package plants, community septic tank systems, spray irrigation and water reclamation.

"I'm not going to take any arguments in favor or against (the general plan presentation)," acting board chairman Joseph Bort told the audience. "But I will let you ask any questions you might have about the report."

Livermore Mayor Helen Tirsell, backed by an entorage of city planners and special attorney Maurice Engel, asked if the commmcommission's recommendation includes New Town's specific zoning and density, or if it is simply general approval for the development.

Submission of a specific plan is one of the planning commission's recommendations, county director Bill Fraley told her.

Jack Smith, Geldermann's attorney, said the zoning and unit density specifics are "fairly complete."

The board has scheduled two hearings to garner public testimony. They want developers and governmental officials to a appear next Thursday morning in the board's chambers.

Private citizens are asked to testify at a 7 p.m., May 26, meeting at Granada High School in Livermore.

The board is only "requesting" the different presentations, since by law it must take all public testimony whenever it is offered.

Further hearings will be scheduled if needed.

Farm land protection bill reaches Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Major farm land protection legislation, patterned after the 1976 Coastal Act, was introduced in the Assembly Thursday.

Assemblyman Victor Calvo, D-Mountain View, said his bill "provides for a minimum amount of state involvement and emphasizes local control, local discretion and local ingenuity to preserve prime agricultural land."

Calvo, chairman of the Assembly Resources, Land Use and Energy Committee, proposes to have the state issue guidelines that local governments could follow in adopting land use restrictions they would submit to a state council for approval.

The land would be preserved until the local agency could convince the state council it should be developed. The protected land would be assessed and taxed according to agricultural use.

Tom Willoughby, consultant to Calvo's committee, said no estimate of the amount of land that the bill would cover is available pending a U.S. Soil Conservation Service study.

Besides the best prime farm land, the bill would be directed at some grazing lands that produce the best forage.

Pokes top Dons, co-champs

Do two co-championships equal a championship? For Livermore High track coach Jack Nix, they equal a lot of frustration.

Still wishing for another shot at Dublin High where they lost on the mile relay, Nix and his crew managed to concentrate on Amador Valley yesterday and came away with an impressive 78-58 win to wrap up their second consecutive East Bay Athletic League co-championship this time with Dublin.

Nix, whose club faced the Gaels with distance runners Steve Lloyd and Rob Wentworth at less than full capacity, benefitted greatly from the efforts of both yesterday and found happiness in 440 runner Ken Fordyce.

"I think the turning point came in the 440 where Ken Fordyce picked up a second place," Nix explained. "They were expecting to sweep in that event, and they really sagged after that."

Although the final score shows no real indication of a "meet," the Dons did hold a slight advantage after a miraculous sweep in the discus.

Eric Larson tossed the discus 156-2 followed by Ernie Zumbach's 154-8 and a 124-0 foot toss by Chuck Grandon. Livermore's Mark Tewes scratched on all four throws, despite throwing 160 feet.

Earlier, Amador's 440 relay team won in a mild surprise as John Sevo, Jim Beigel, Steve Peck and Chris Huntze edged the Cowboys squad of Jim Cooley, Fordyce, Hans Aaland, and Wes Settle, 44.7 to 44.8.

But Fordyce came back in the 440 to finish second behind Huntze, who won in a time of 51.6. Fordyce ran a 52.3, nipping Peck who clocked 52.4.

A sweep in the pole vault, keyed by Mike Draper, a win by Settle in the 220 (23.4) and a two mile sweep by Went worth (9:51.8), Lloyd, and Bob Goralka cleaned up shop for the winners.

Lloyd outdueled Wentworth in the mile, though 4:36.8 to 4:38.7. Amador's Dave Edney was third at 4:44.5.

Jeff Nixon took the 880 for Livermore in 2:02.6, Rich Lawson and Settle went 1-2 in the 100 Dade Andrade heaved the shop put 52-7, Dean Lindsey soared 41-11 in the triple jump and Bob Churchill climbed 6-6½ in the high jump to round out the remaining first place winners for Livermore, all of whom displayed peak times.

The Dons were not without some good individual performances as John Sevo leaped 20-3 in the long jump, Jim Beigel roared 40.6 in the 330 low hurdles, while also winning the 120 high hurdles in a time of 15.2 seconds.

Livermore girls beat the Dons, 66-43. Paula Ng was back in form, winning the 100, long jump and 110 low hurdles to lead the victory.

Is it Me or the team?

On Sports

High school football coaches must be falling on frustating times.

An example of this can be seen in the East Bay Athletic League where Fred Wood of Amador Valley became the latest grid coach to leave his post when he resigned Monday.

Fred Wood

Wood is only the latest of several EBAL coaches to quit or be fired in recent years. Just last year California High coach Dick Nodlinski resigned and San Ramon mentor Fred Houston was dismissed. Other EBAL coaches have also quit in recent seasons. In fact Granada's Don Couch is the EBAL's senior mentor and he has only been head coach of the Matadors for three seasons. Why is this?

It might be because coaches on the high school level (not just in football) are having a harder time motivating modern youth.

Twenty and more years ago very few high school athletes questioned the authority of the coach. Many if not most of the high school players viewed the coaches as prep versions of Vince Lombardi.

This was especially true in small, rural towns which Pleasnton, Livermore and Dublin once were.

In those days football was THE sport. If you weren't on the football team your social life was severly limited. It's still that way in some small towns in Northern California, Oregon and other places but the prep football coach in the suburbs and especially large cities is having a hard time getting kids to come out for the team and devote most of their time to the squad.

There are other attractions besides football for the typical high school youth of today. There are more sports such as cross - country, tennis (which is experencing a rapid growth in popularity) and other athletic activities in which there is more of an individualistic motivation.

Some people might say this has to do with a decline in the modern's youth's devoution to the team concept in any endeaver, whether it be sports, politics or nationalism.

Whether this is true or not is debatable but it is true that many youths view team sports (particuarly football) as a reflection of total acceptance of the system.

This is a belief not unique to teenagers but also among professional and collegiate athletes.

A glance at the absurd salaries given to today's professional athletes shows that the individual is more concerned with "Me first" instead of the team.

That was apparently one of the reasons former Giant manager Bill Rigney quit. He implied that the modern-day athletes were quite different from the players of his day in their attitude toward the game.

With the example given by the professional athletes it's no wonder today's prep athletes are less inclined to treat football or any other sport as the main focal point of their lives.

If this trend continues we will probably see high school football eventually drop to a "club or intermural" level.

The handwriting is already on the wall in some school districts. San Mateo County is prehaps the prime example of this.

With a dwindling high school age enrollment and a large, upper-middle class population with grown children that county's prep football teams are dropping to a level of mediocrity.

While the EBAL schools have not reached that level yet the decline in the birth rate and the lagging interest in team sports may eventually lead to that status in the future.

That is a possibility most high school football coaches do not relish.

Rascano dims Granada hopes

DANVILLE — Mitch Rascano pitched with surgical precision as the San Ramon Wolves put Granada High School on the critical list, 4-0 here yesterday.

Rascano fired a two-hitter at the Matadors, walking one batter and striking out seven as San Ramon took a 2½ game lead over Granada with just three games remaining.

Granada's pitchers were almost as impeessive, fanning a total of 12 and walking one batter. But when the Wolves made contact, they made trouble for Granada, whose Steve Cox absorbed his first loss of the season.

With two out in the bottom of the first, Greg Bishop was safe on a fielder's choice, stole second and went to third on an error. Rascano, batting in the clean-up spot, struck out, but reached first on a passed ball.

The Wolves called a double steal and as Tim Shatswell's throw to second carried into the outfield, Bishop came in with the only essential Wolf run.

The remaining three runs also came off starter Cox, who struck out eight batters in a three and two-third inning stint.

After the lanky right hander had fanned six of seven Wolf batters during one sequence, John Arnaudon singled and took third on a pair of stolen bases. Cox got two more K's before the roof fell in in the form of singles by Paul Fisch and Jim Meese.

Davis retired the last seven San Ramon batters — but not before being subjected to a hostile welcome, Joey Pappalardo's two-run triple to deep left-center.

Granada High School's girls' and frosh-soph track teams finished the East Bay Athletic League season undefeated with convicing wins yesterday over host California High School.

The Matador girls took a 73-31 win over the Grizzlies and the frosh-soph romped to a decisive 102-25 victory.

The Granada varsity also won, 84-42, to raise its EBAL record to 3-4.

Kathy Honour won the 100-yard dash in 11.8 and the long jump with a 15-9 leap to spark the Matador girls.

Gaels rout SR, share title

Chuck Gangnuss and Jeff Barnes supplied the big wins as Dublin High School gained a share of the East Bay Athletic League varsity track championship with a resounding 82-54 victory over San Ramon yesterday on the Gael track.

Thus, Dublin and Livermore, which thumped Amador Valley yesterday, share the EBAL crown. However, the Gaels beat Livermore earlier in the season.

Gangnuss startpd the Gaels off fast with a brillant 14.1 in the 120-yard high hurdles, tieing the fastest time in Northern California this season. He also won the 330-yard lows in 40.5, fast off his best of 38.3.

Barnes came through with a great triple win. He took the high jump with a 5-11 leap, the triple jump with a 43-4 effort and the long jump with a 20-4½ mark.

"I just started competing in the high jump two weeks ago," admitted the outgoing Gael junior. "I started jumping in it because I liked the event.

"I think I can got a lot further in the triple and long jumps next season," he went on. "The 20-4½ is my personal best in the long jump."

Gangnuss warmed up for today's Fresno Relays by routing the field in the highs. He won by 1.4 seconds and didn't hit a hurdle in the process.

Sprinter Jim Boulware also came with with a big win for the Gaels, taking the 100 against a cross-wind in 10.0.

He defeated San Ramon's Fritz Venker, who recorded a 10.1.

"I heard he had a fast start so I felt if I could stay with him at the start I had a chance," said Boulware. "At the 50-yard mark we were about even sol knew I had him. I always finish strong."

Venker came back to nip Boulware in the 220 with a 22.8 clocking. The Wolves also picked up points in the two-mile (they swept it) and the mile (where they got a first and third. However, the Gaels' strength in the sprints, jumps and hurdles too great an obstacle to overcome.

Gael coach Tom Cathcart praised Barnes' triple victory as prehaps the key to the Dublin victory.

"His three wins really picked us up," stated Cathcart. "He beat Keith Wilkes in the triple jump (Wilkes has done over 46 feet in that event this season) and that was a big point."

Cathcart also thought a third - place finish by Mike Hayes in the 880 aided the Dublin cause.

"We wern't expected to place there but that also gave us an unexpected lift," the happy Gael mentor said.

San Ramon came back to take the girls' competition by a 71-37 score. Dublin waltzed in the frosh-soph competition, 104-30.

Gielow fires 36, leads rout

Rick Gielow fired a 36 to set a new school and individual record as Foothill High School's golf team romped over Amador Valley, 206-225 in an East Bay Athletic League match at Castlewood Country Club yesterday.

Foothill, now 10-3 and in second place, also got a fine 40 from John Zehnder and a 41 from veteran Dan Juchau.

Amador Valley was paced by Frank Moona with a 41. Keith Olson added a 42, Paul LeClaire a 46, Rick Burns a 48 and Mark Ledwig a 48.

John Briggs added a 43 for Foothill and John Raspanti had a 46.

Gielow has improved rapidly this season to become the Falcons' ace.

Tri-Valley falls

A wicked wind off the Carquinez Strait and a single run in the bottom of the ninth inning sent the Tri-Valley Cubs to a 4-3 practice game loss to Benicia Wednesday night.

Cub hurler John Deckland fell victim to both the wind and the run, suffering the loss after pitching a very good game. Deckland entered the ninth having allowed no earned runs, and gave up a triple to the first Benicia batter. One out later, another hit, to right field through a drawn in infield, won the game for the hosts.

In going the distance, Deckland struck out 14 batters and rationed Benicia to just five hits. Deckland's undoing was the wind, which caused three errors and the same amount of unearned runs.

Fly balls were very deceptive in the strong gusts. Cub general manager John McCuaig related that one ball which appeared headed for the wall 320 feet away in left actually died when struck by the wind and ended up a quiet out.

Relays feature top sprinters

FRESNO (AP) — Olympian gold medalist Donald Quarrie, sprint sensation Houston McTear and three men who have vaulted 18 feet head the field for the Golden Anniversary running of the West Coast Relays.

Entries for the weekend meet include high hurdler Dedy Cooper and triple jumper Willie Banks, both national recordholders, and discus-thrower John Powell, a former world record - holder. The field boasts a total of 17 Olympians.

However, the National Weather Service says 10-20 mile an hour winds that have been sweeping the San Joaquin Valley may persist through Friday and Saturday. If so, any new sprint records would be nullified.

In 49 previous runnings, 39 world standards have been set or tied at the Fresno meet, the oldest relays on the West Coast.

Quarrie, a former USC star, heads a 100-meter dash field that also includes the man he nosed out in the 220 at Montreal last summer, Millard Hampton of UCLA.

McTear is a freshman sprinter at Santa Monica City College who set a national junior college record of 10-flat for 100 meters last month. His stiffest competition in the junior college division should come from Los Medanos speedster Derald Harris who beat McTear once in the 200-meter dash in April.

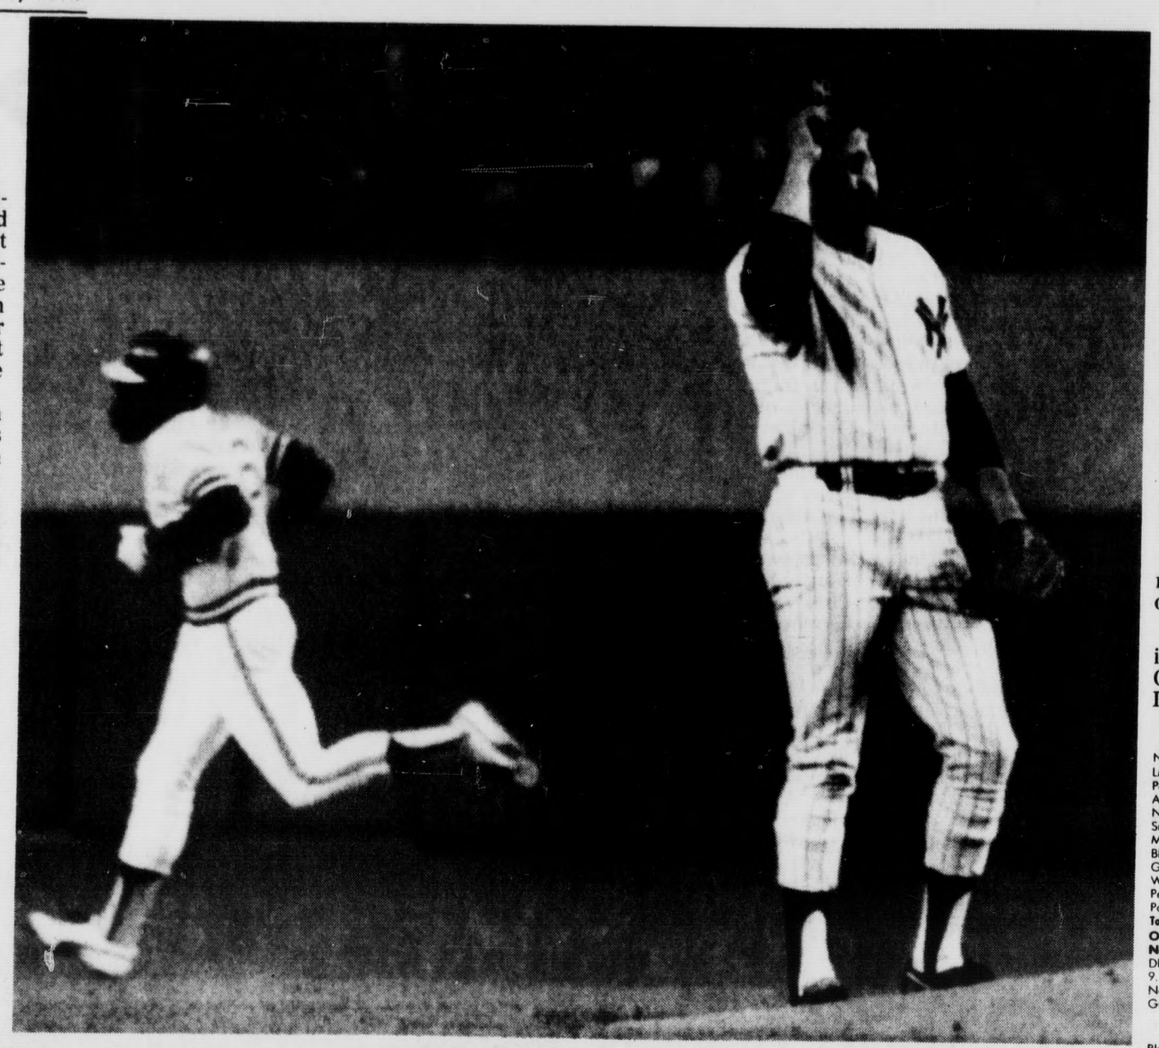
The pole vault features a rematch of last year's 18-foot deadlock between Dan Ripley and Australian Don Baird of Long Beach State. Former world record - holder Kjell Isaksson, who has an 18-2 best, is a third prominent entry.

Cooper, of San Jose State, will compete in the 100-meter hurdles against Delario Robinson. The best previous time for both is 13.4 seconds.

Besides entering the triple jump, Banks will compete in the long jump in a head - to - head match against Stanford's Jim Lofton, the nation's leader in that event this year with a 26-9.

Powell will be challenged in the discus by Ken Stadel and Jim McGoldrick.

Open division events are scheduled Saturday afternoon and evening along with junior college competition. Most high school and college competition is scheduled for Friday.



New York Yankee pitcher Catfish Hunter looks unhappy as A's Mitchell Page jogs bases after home run.

AL wrap-up

A's beat Yanks

NEW YORK — Mitchell Page's two-run homer and a two-run triple by Bill North backed Vida Blue's 10-hit pitching and gave the Oakland A's a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees Thursday night.

The A's jumped on Catfish Hunter, 1-1, making his first appearance since he was injured on opening day, in the first inning when Larry Murray singled and Page followed with his sixth home run of the season.

Oakland tallied twice more in the second inning on North's triple.

New York, which scored in the seventh on a single by Graig Nettles and Bucky Dent's double, pulled within 5-2 in the bottom of the eighth.

Blue, 2-2, ripped through the first 10 Yankees in order before White lined a one-out single in the fourth. After Munson flied out, Reggie Jackson singled White to third but the Oakland left-hander got out of the inning by striking out Chambliss.

After giving up two runs in each of the first two innings, Hunter set the A's down in order in the third. The A's put runners on base in the fourth and fifth but Hunter easily got out of both innings.

On the fifth pitch of the game, a liner off the bat of North struck Hunter on the left foot, the same foot he injured on opening day when he was hit by a drive by Milwaukee's Von Joshua.

Daniels picked as AC assistant

OAKLAND — Amador Valley High School's Skip Mohatt has chosen long-time friendly rival Paul Daniels of Berkeley to serve as assistant coach for the Alameda County all-stars in the United Cerebral Palsy Basketball Classic during June.

Contra Costa head coach Gary Cook chose his own Campolindo assistant, Barry Hart, to serve in a similar capacity.

Daniels graduated from the University of California and taught for three years at West Campus Junior High in Berkeley before moving to the high school for a four-year tour as assistant basketball coach.

He took over the varsity assignment in 1970, but took one year off since to handle administrative duties. Under Daniels, the Yellowjackets have won their league every season and have recorded two second place finishes in the Tournament of Champions as well as a second and a third in the North Coast Section championships.

His total won-loss record as a head coach is 102-29. In addition to his coaching record, Daniels and Mohatt have often worked together on away - from - the - court matters involving high school ball.

Hart, meanwhile, graduated from the University of Santa Clara and entered the Navy. While in uniform, Hart donned the uniform of SubPac in Hawaii to play a little hoop.

As JV coach at Campolindo, Hart has autonomy from the varsity program and went unbeaten in 20 games this year after previously recording a pair of 18-3 seasons.

While Hart has control of the JV program once the teams have been split for the year, he and Cook work together, especially at the varsity level where, Cook says, "He sets our defensive tempo, he'll do a great deal of defensive work with the all-stars."

After a glance at the rosters of the two teams, which will be made official next week, it's apparent Contra Costa will need some D when faced with Alameda's incredible array of talent.

Rogers baffles Giants, 7-1

SAN FRANCISCO — Montreal pitcher Steve Rogers scattered nine hits to record his third victory and drove in two runs with a pair of singles Thursday in the Expos' 7-1 triumph over the San Francisco Giants.

Rogers, 3-1, was deprived of a shutout because right-fielder Ellis Valentine lost Tim Foli's fly ball in the sun in the seventh inning, allowing Foli to reach second base with a double. Foli scored on a single by pinch-hitter Terry Whitfield.

The Expos scored a run in the second, made it 3-0 in the fourth and wrapped it up with four runs in the sixth.

Rogers lowered his earned run average to 1.34, walking two batters and striking out two in the game.

The Giants made three errors, and three of Montreal's runs were unearned. Del Unser, leading off the fourth, doubled after right-fielder Gary Thomasson had dropped his foul fly ball, and he scored on Gary Carter's double.

In the sixth, center-fielder Larry Herndon's threw to the infield was wide of third base and allowed Rogers to score with the fourth run of the inning. San Francisco, which had the most errors in major league baseball last season, has made 26 in its 23 games this season.

Foli got a clean hit, a triple to left-center, leading off the ninth inning. But Rogers left him there, retiring Marc Hill on a grounder to third, pinch hitter Jack Clark on a pop-up and Herndon on a line drive to center.

The loss was the Giants' 10th in 12 home games. Montreal is 4-3 on its current road trip.

Cubs 8, Astros 7 — Manny Trillo, Jerry Morales and George Mitterwald all homered as Chicago took a tight win over Houston in the Windy City.

Houston rallied for five runs in the seventh inning on home runs by Bob Watson and Cliff Johnson then Joe Ferguson hit a two-run homer in the eighth to close within one run.

Trillo blasted his second home run of the year in the first inning with two men on to cap a four-run burst.

Cowboys select Erceg

John Erceg, having served a six year stint as either freshman of junior varsity basketball coach at Livermore High, has been named to the varsity post at Livermore.

The 34-year old San Jose State graduate replaces John Jones, who earlier this week announced that he would retire as head man at Livermore in order to take over as coach at Lassen Junior College in Susanville.

In five seasons as junior varsity coach, Erceg twice guided his team to a league co-championship, including one last season. Erceg's only year as freshman coach also brought him a championship.

Mat swimmers romp

Granada High's swim team whipped Dublin 102-72 Wednesday to end the year with a 3-3 mark. The loss dropped publin's final record to 2-4.

Mike Kurtzer and Steve Ruffner paced the Granada effort with a pair of individual victories each.

Ruffner zipped to a very fine time of 1:01.7 in the 100 breast and he also captured the 200 IM with a clocking of 2:04.2.

Freestyle events proved to be Kurtzer's strong point, as he took the 50 free with a time of 23.5 and went twice that distance in 51.6.

Dublin's only two time winner was Kjein Ha, an exchange student. Ha won the 100 fly, posting a time of 1:00.2 and his 1:03.1 mark was good enough to take the 100 back.

Showing team balance, Granada swept the top three spots in the diving competition. Wes Karch and Jim Tonne battled it out for first place, with Karch edging his teammate by a 212.90 to 210.65 count. Andy Rivenes aided the winning cause by taking the 500 free in 5:07.8 and picking up a second place in the 200 free.

Both of the relay events were marred by disqualification of the winning team, each time when one member of the team was ruled to have entered the water too soon.

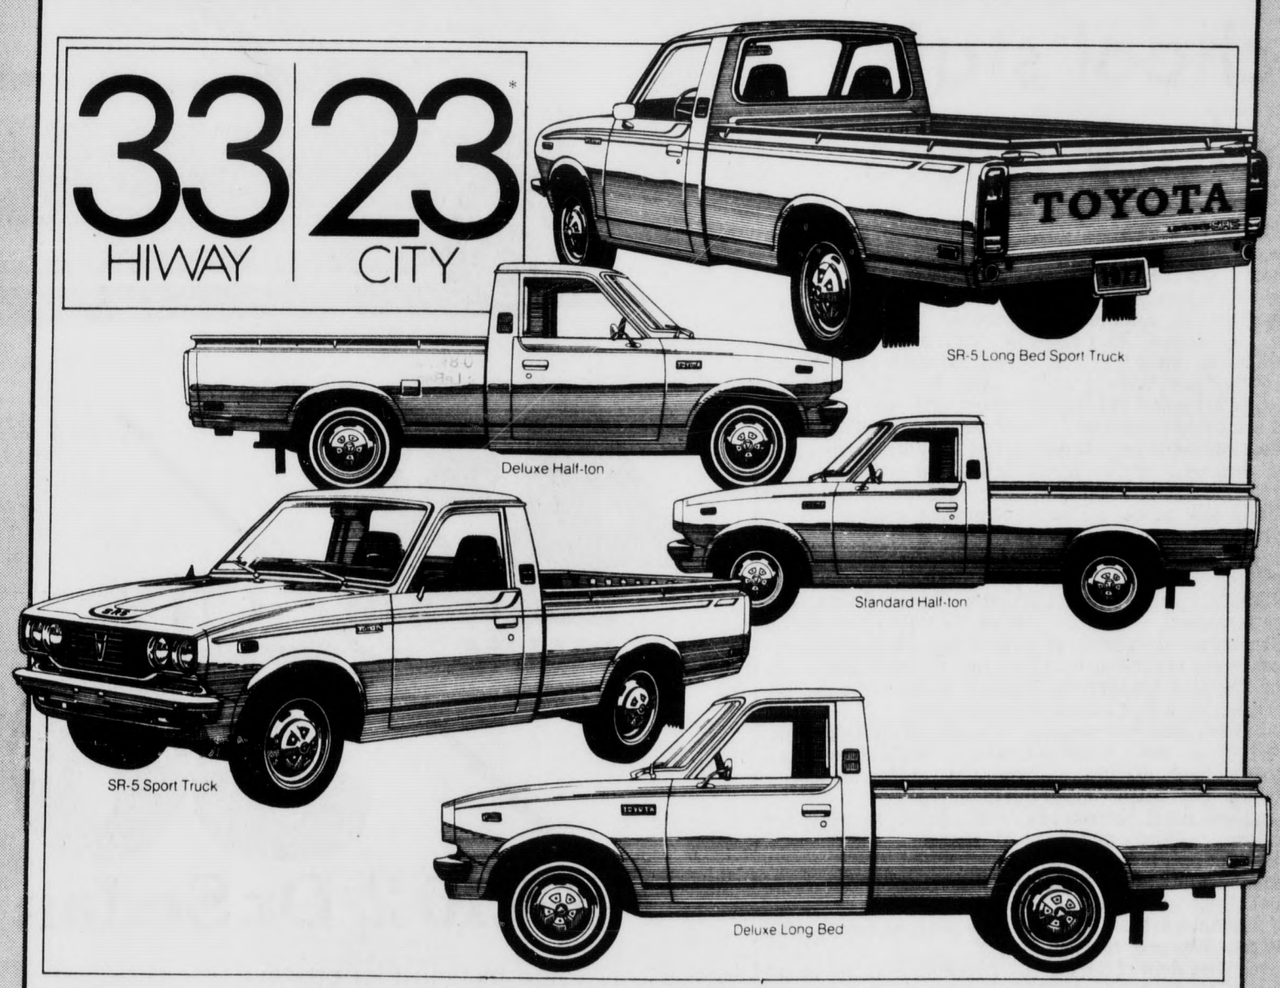
IT'S JUST COMMON TRUCK SENSE.



It's just good common sense to want great gas mileage these days. But there are more economies built into these Toyota trucks than just what you'll save at the gas pump.

Durability. It makes sense to buy a truck that'll hold up. Toyotas are built to last. That's why you see so many older Toyota trucks still in service.

Reliability. It makes sense to buy a truck you can depend on. Toyota built its reputation with reliable vehicles. For example, all 5 Toyota trucks have a transistorized ignition system for dependable starting.

Value. It makes sense to buy a truck that'll hold its value. Owning a Toyota is like money in the bank. Because Toyotas have traditionally high resale value.

*These California EPA results with manual transmission are estimates. The actual mileage you get will vary depending on your driving habits and your truck's condition and equipment.

YOU ASKED FOR IT. YOU GOT IT.

She'll scare up recycling bill support

LIVERMORE — "Fantastic! I'm pleased as punch," was the initial reaction of Livermore's "Recycling Queen" Lois Hill yesterday after learning of an assembly bill that provides funding for recylcing plans like one she recently proposed for this city.

Assemblyman Bill Lockyer (D—San Leandro) recently introduced AB860 which would provide $1 million to the state solid waste management board for distribution as grants to both public and non-profit private agencies for start or expansion of recycling centers.

The bill, if enacted as law, would provide up to $25,000 for any one project. Last week it won unanimous approval of the Assembly Committee on Resources, Land Use and Energy, and now goes to the tougher Ways and Means Committee.

"It is an encouraging development," said Hill. "It really is."

Noting the need for additional support for the bill, Hill said she will be urging people to write to Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr., in hopes he will support the bill.

A spokesman in Lockyer's office earlier this week told The Times Brown's endorsement would insure passage.

"I've never really done lobbying before, but this tempts me," Hill told The Times. "I'll certainly write the governor and try got others to do so."

She will be in Oakland next Thursday to accept an award from Owens - Illinois Glass Company recognizing the Livermore Recycling Center as one of the top volume producers of reclaimed containers.

The local center sold green and amber glass to the Oakland company, earning $30 a ton for 336,660 pounds last year.

With the pending award, Hill said "People will feel good about themselves in the community. Maybe they'll feel confident we deserve a new program."

Hill's plan calls for Livermore residents to remove inorganic materials and recyclable papers from their household garbage. Oakland Scavenger's local operations would collect the recyclables at the same time as mixed waste, load them on special carts and leave them at the recycling depot on their way to the dump with the rest of the garbage.

Equipment such as a compacter truck, large bins, loading pit, storage shed and buried oil tank — all for the first of two stages in the project — would be eligible for funding under AB860.

Livermore needs police reserve help

LIVERMORE — What do a tugboat captain, ambulance driver, Xerox executive, airline stewardess and an auto mechanic have in common?

"They're citizens dedicated to the betterment of the community working as police reservists," answers Captain Joe Nichols of the Livermore Police Department.

The city currently has ten openings for reserve personnel and will begin an 80-hour training program when enough applications are received.

"It's an excellent way for people who want to dedicate some time to the community to become involved," Nichols says.

Reserve police officers serve the same functions, and with the same authority, that regular policeman do. Each serves a minimum of 16 hours per month on duty with a regular officer plus a Friday or Saturday night every other weekend.

"Attrition has really taken its toll," says Officer Jack Stewart, liaison officer between the reservists and the regular force. "In the last 18 months, we've had to replace three reservists we hired to the (full-time) force."

Many reservists do go on to become full-time police officers after getting a taste of the job on the part-time program. Livermore's training program fulfills state requirement's for peace officer work, leaving only each individual agency's 400-hour academy training.

The 80-hour training, held each Wednesday night for six to seven months, includes every aspect of law enforcement work, including use of firearms, dispatch equipment, arrest laws and other required information.

Reserve officers must supply their own uniform and firearms, usually amounting to about $400, Stewart says. This can be offset by working "overtime" as a security guard at high school dances, the air show or annual rodeo, at $4.98 per hour. There is no pay for regular work.

Applicants — of either sex — must be 21 years old, in good physical health and a Valley resident.

When an application is received, a background check of the individual is made. Written exams, an oral interview, psychiatric tests and a polygraph (lie detector) test are also run to insure high - quality personnel.

"Reasons for joining," Nichols says, "include 'I don't know,' 'always wanted to,' 'members of my family were police officers,' and 'Why not?'"

Reservists also become part of the Civil Defense contingent. But reserve officers can volunteer to be on-call at all times in case of emergencies or manpower shortages.

Interested persons can pick up applications at city hall or the police department.

Board defends school staff salary hikes

PLEASANTON— Trustees of the Pleasanton Joint School District have reiterated, in the face of renewed objections to administration pay raises, that the cost of the raises is less than the percentage increases accorded teachers and classified personnel.

Teacher unit and classified employe representatives voiced disgust initially last week, following board approval of 5 and 5.25 per cent increases to administration, classified confidential, and supervisory personnel.

The latter categories include Superintendent Bruce Newlin, his three assistants (Carl Krause, Doug Rose, Neil Sweeney), directors of such departments as food services, vocational education, adult education, pupil personnel services, research and development, instructional media, Regional Occupational Program, principals, and assistant principals.

Betty Nostrand, recently elected president of the elementary school board, said the rationale for the increases was given at the time of the actions, April 26.

"We really feel they are not disproportionate," stated Mrs. Nostrand. "Dollar-wise, the amount it cost the district to give administration, classified confidential and supervisory personnel the raises is equivalent to what teachers and classified employes received."

The classified confidential group includes seven persons at the central district office who assist Newlin, Krause, Rose and Sweeney in carrying out district business.

All groups receive salary, medical and retirement benefits but are tied to different salary schedules.

The salary increases for the administration, classified confidential and supervisory employes are recommended by Newlin to the board. Newlin also recommends his own salary increase. In the latter case, he was granted a raise from $35,000 to $37,000.

Mrs. Nostrand said the salary and benefits raises for both teachers and classified employes comes to about 9 per cent, including increments, medical and retirement benefits.

At a school board meeting Wednesday, Tom Zach, president of the Amador Valley Teachers Association (AVTA), claimed about one-third of teachers in the district didn't advance on the salary schedule last year.

He opined that administrators "would have made more by settling for a 4 per cent increase."

"Teachers are pretty upset about this new beginning," Zach added, "but we will work to obtain a new contract (for 1977-78), even to the point of compromising."

Teachers and the board failed to negotiate a contract for 1976-77, after exhausting impasse proceedings of the collective bargaining procedure.

The Pleasanton school board has announced a public hearing on the teachers' contract proposal for Wednesday, May 11. The meeting is tentatively set for Harvest Park School.

Copies of the teacher contract proposal are available to the public now at the Pleasanton library, schools, and the district offices at 123 Main St.

Mrs. Nostrand added that any resident wishing to make a comment concerning the contract proposal could contact her or any of the other board members—Earnestine Schneider, Joseph Schwab, Ronald Ott and Nancy Hawtrey.

Datsun's gasoline tax shelters

F-10 Wagon

42 HWY. / 30 CITY*

B-210 2-Dr. Sedan

And that's just for openers.

Because, including the three cars shown above, Datsun has ten 1977 models that not only exceed the 1978 Federal gas-mileage requirements, but also exceed the 1985 requirements. And may shelter you from any new Federal tax on gasoline.

Some of these models come with manual transmission, others with automatic. And all have proven Datsun durability.

Not to mention Datsun value. These ten models are not stripped-down just to get high gas mileage. No sir. They all have the quality appointments that Americans have come to expect from cars carrying the Datsun name.

So when you talk about good gas mileage—and who isn't these days—you've got to talk Datsun.

*1977 EPA estimates. Manual transmissions. Your mileage may vary depending on how and where you drive, your car's condition and optional equipment.

Suddenly it's going to dawn on you.

Dance-a-Thon for hunger

DUBLIN — The Senior High Youth Fellowship of Jown Knox Presbyterian Church in Dublin raised over $900 from their 36 hour "Dance - a - Thon" over April 4-5 for the One Great Hour of Sharing Offering for world relief and emergency services and the Hunger Fund of the United Presbyterian Church.

This amount brought the total contribution of this 365 member congregation to over $2000 for the special Easter offering to the One Great Hour of Sharing.

All the funds raised were sent directly to the agencies of Church World Service, and the hunger fighting arm of the Presbyterian Church. Of this offering, more than 90 per cent goes direct to those in need. Most of the other 10 per cent is used for the transportation of goods and services to the needy. This is possible because the funds are handled by the church and in cooperation with other Christian agencies.

"It is remarkable and newsworthy," says the Rev. Jim Griffes, pastor of John Knox Church, "that young people would find such joy in raising funds, not for themselves nor their pet projects, but entirely for others."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Planning Commission of the City of Pleasanton has set May 18, 1977, at the hour of 8:00 P.M. Wednesday evening, a regular Planning Commission meeting in the Pleasanton Council Chambers, 30 West Angela Street, Pleasanton, California, as the time and place to consider the following matter:

Application of Page G. Binkley to rezone an approximately 2.1 acre parcel of land located on the southeast corner of Black Avenue and Hopyard Road from the RM-4000 (Multiple Residential) District to the PUD (Planned Unit Development) District and for approval of a development plan for a proposed 28-unit condominium project on the site.

The townhouse style units would be roughly 1,150 sq.ft. in size, contain three bedrooms and cost approximately $60,000. Three units would be single story; the remainder would be two-story units. Off-street parking would be located primarily beneath the units, with access from Black Avenue. Street trees and landscaping would be provided.

On the basis of an Initial Study of the potential environmental impacts of the project, it has been determined that the proposed project would not have any potential significant adverse effects on the environment and that an environmental impact report need not be prepared. The Initial Study and Negative Declaration are available for review at the Planning Department, 200 Bernal Avenue, Pleasanton, California. Comments on this decision must be received at the Planning Department no later than May 11, 1977, in order to be considered by the Planning Commission prior to their decision on the proposed project.

The Planning Commission may approve, modify or deny the application, or recommend to the City Council any action deemed in the public interest.

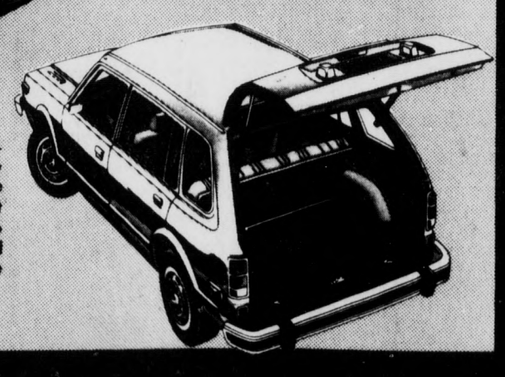
WE DON'T WANT YOU TO LIKE US JUST FOR OUR BODIES

Sure we have one of the hottest selling automobiles to come down the pike in years. And sure some dealers would get a little complacent with the success story that Honda exhibits. And right again, some car dealers exhibit this successful arrogance by giving their clientel less service than they deserve.



But at Walnut Creek Honda we realize that repeat business is what really counts. A satisfied customer will be back year after year. That's why at Walnut Creek Honda we want you to like us for more than our beautiful cars. We want you to like us for the way we do business.

Plain talk on elderly taxes

OAKLAND — Since it usually takes a Philadelphia lawyer to decipher most information published by county and state offices, the Alameda County Department on Aging (ACDA) has tried to put a few facts in plain English.

An ACDA newsletter stated they had found the facts in a January newsletter presented by the California Rural Legal Assistance Program.

Most of the list includes terms and comments to help persons understand property tax proposals — especially in regard to renters and low income homeowners.

"Assessed Value" or "Assessment" means the value that the assessor places on your property for taxing purposes. The assessed value (or assessment) is 25 per cent (one-fourth) of what the county assessor estimates your property would bring if it were placed on the market.

The "Tax Rate" is the percentage of the Assessed Value (AV) of your property which you must pay as a property tax. Example: If the assessed value (AV) of your property is $5,000 and the tax rate is nine per cent, you pay $9 for every $100 of your AV — or a total of $450.

Clearly, an increase in either assessment or tax rate can make the amount you pay go up."

The ACDA newsletter states a "circuit breaker" gives a certain amount of relief to a houshold depending on that household's income. It provides direct relief to people and districts who need it most.

Under present law, low income persons over 62 years old receive property tax or renters relief depdendent on their income. A senior homeowner with an income lower than $3000 receives 96 per cent of his or her property tax in relief.

A senior renter with an income lower than $3000 receives 96 per cent of $220. That $220 figure is a statewide estimated average of what share of a rental fee goes toward property tax.

Both the homeowners and renters property tax relief is provided Senate bills 2, 12, and 154.

Under existing law each homeowner is entitled to an exemption of $1,750 of the assessed value of his or her dwelling. This means taxes will not be levied on the $1,750 amount.

The ACDA newsletter states "Many proposals call simply for increasing the exemption ($1,750). A flat rate homeowners exemption does not take into account a person's ability to pay. Under the current exemption, only 20 per cent of the savings goes to taxpayers with incomes below $10,000, while 40 per cent goes to persons with incomes over $20,000."

U.S. smooths Vietnam stand

PARIS (AP) — Two years after the fall of Saigon, the United States agreed Wednesday to drop its opposition to the entry of unified, Communist-governed Vietnam into the United Nations.

America also said it will end its embargo on trade with Vietnam as part of a package deal for establishing diplomatic relations "as soon as possible."

An American spokesman said the United States had decided not to exercise its veto of Vietnam's U.N. membership again, regardless of progress in the talks.

He said the decision was made because the government in Hanoi — capital of unified Vietnam — cooperated in the search for American servicemen missing from the war and the Carter Administration believes in the universality of the United Nations.

A statement on the talks issued by the Vietnamese delegation made clear, however, that Hanoi feels the American promise to drop the veto also is part of over-all negotiations for establishing normal relations between the two governments. In addition, the Vietnamese pressed for American contributions to repairing war damage.
